

TRANSFER MATERIALS AND APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Before choosing a process, consider your budget, fabric color and content, plus the type of fabric (knits, woven, non-woven or other substrates). The application instructions following each process is intended for use with professional heat presses and not home irons.

NYLO-FLEX

- Used on woven and knitted fabrics of any color. Stronger adhesion.
- Higher opacity, used on light or dark color garments.
- Backing paper is removed while transfer is cold.

Nylo-Flex transfers feature a supplemental adhesive which makes them ideal for Cap Transfers (imprinting on curve), and for more difficult woven fabrics. They are also frequently used to imprint dark colors because of greater opacity than regular Flex construction.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

350°

Preheat garments 5-10 seconds.

Press 15 seconds, medium pressure.

Cool peel.

HOTSPLIT

- Used on 100% cotton or blended content knitted fabrics (T's & Sweats).
- Low opacity, must use on white, ash, or very light color garments.
- Backing paper is removed while transfer is hot.

Hotsplit transfers are very desirable on light colored garments because they impart little "change of hand" (feel) to the fabric. When properly applied they impart a portion of ink to the garment and leave part of the ink on the backing paper, "splitting" the transfer ink.
